Tibor Hollo accepts award

With the Kendall Jackson wine flowing, ULI handed its prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award to Tibor Hollo, founder of Florida East Coast Realty. Hollo, a tall, slender man of 82, graciously accepted the award with only one hesitation: "You generally don't give these to young people."

Andrew Duffell, senior VP of the Business Development Board of Palm Beach County, was bestowed with ULI's Young Leader of the Year Award.

Coleman credits the event's growth to the caliber of the honorees and projects recognized. A couple of those projects flagged by ULI as the year's best also were recognized in March by the Business Journal in its annual coverage of the region's top real estate deals.
